    <h2>About Me</h2>
    Among all my siblings, I've always been the one with a strong eye for perfect spelling and grammar. My passion for writing began back in secondary school when I chose the Arts track. Literature quickly became my favorite subject, right after English. I admired the way my teacher crafted her words, and that admiration sparked something in me — I began writing short poems and stories. They didn't get much attention back then, but they were the beginning of my creative journey.
    I draw most of my inspiration from my imagination. Writing gives me the space to create new worlds, explore emotions, and connect with people beyond words. My hope is that when others read my work, they don't just see words on a page — they feel something, even if they don't know me personally.

    <h2>Services</h2>
    Creative Writing: Creative writing is more than just a skill for me — it's my outlet for self-expression. Through stories, poems, and fiction, I tap into deep emotions and explore different perspectives. It's a space for joy, growth, and connection.
    Articles & Blogs: I enjoy crafting engaging articles, especially in the form of short stories and poetry. My blog-style writing focuses on creativity, relatability, and impact — with every word thoughtfully chosen.
    Note: I currently do not offer language translation services.
